

National Weather Service Wilmington, NC

Outlook Period: Friday June 14 – Sunday June 16
Time Issued: 10 AM Friday June 14

Prepared by: Matt Scalora
Forecaster #: 910-762-4289

OVERVIEW:

Cool high pressure will build into the area through Saturday, with a warming trend expected early next week as high pressure slips offshore. This will draw south and southwest winds across the region. Expect high temps in the 80s every day.

WWA: (Watch Warning Advisory):

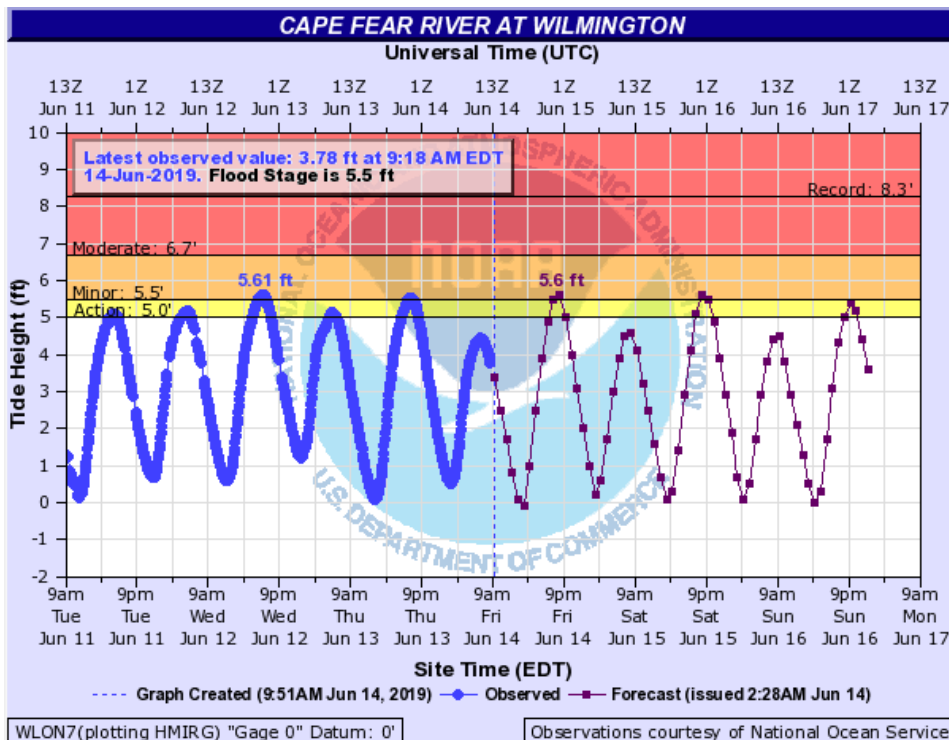

Minor coastal flooding possible at Cape Fear River at Wilmington for both this evening's and Saturday evening's high tide cycle (see below).
Otherwise, no Advisories, Watches, or Warnings expected through this weekend.

MARINE:

No Advisories, Watches, or Warnings expected through this weekend.

HYDROLOGY:

No river flooding expected through this weekend.
