

National Weather Service Wilmington, NC

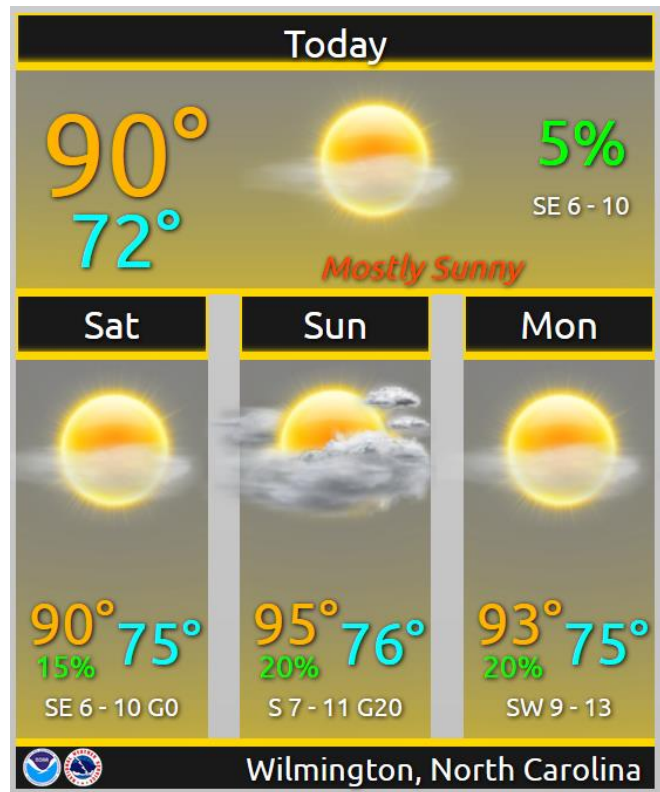

Outlook Period: Fri June 28th – Sunday June 30th
Time Issued: 0930AM June 28th 2019

Prepared by: Victoria Oliva

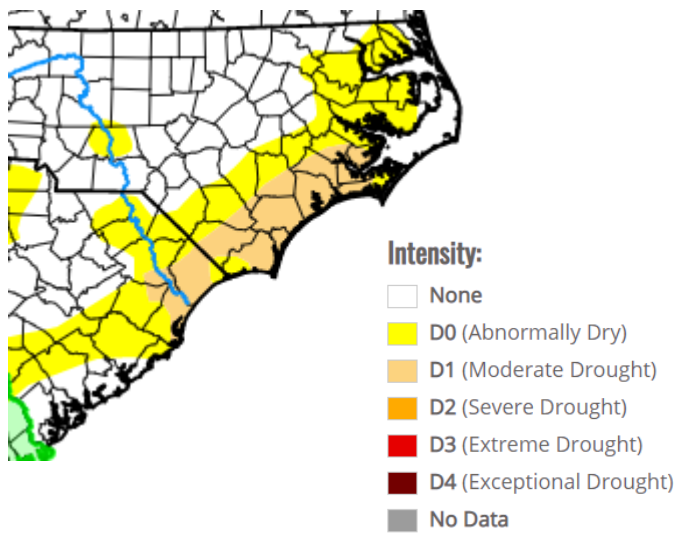

Warm and Mostly Dry. Heat Up Sunday.

Overview: Persistent high pressure over the area. Trough digs down on Saturday before pushing through the area late Sunday.

Impacts: Highs in the upper 90s with heat indexes around 100°F Sunday. Slight chance of isolated showers for inland areas Friday afternoon. Slight chance of rain weekend, mainly late Sunday into Monday. On average, very little rain is expected over the next few days, which does not help our continued drought.

Current Drought Information

<https://droughtmonitor.unl.edu/CurrentMap/StateDroughtMonitor.aspx?southeast>

For the latest updates, please visit our website and social media outlets: